CAR PARK QUESTIONS

- Sometimes, persistent questions in lessons can disrupt and slow-down the pace in a lesson.
- As a way of addressing this, I designed 'Car Park Questions' where students are asked to 'park' any questions they have during the lesson along the top row.
- In the bottom row, students are asked to complete the 'spaces' if the question is answered at some point during the lesson (often the case) OR...
- If students still have a question remaining at the end of the lesson, this can be addressed either in the final two minutes or as the students leave.

In the car parking spaces on the top row, write down any questions you currently have on 'Great Expectations' or whilst we watch.

For the bottom row of spaces, complete the answers if they are addressed in the lesson or when we revisit it in tomorrow's lesson.
